

SEPARATION/DIVORCE MEDIATION

Relationship dissolving mediation provides opportunities for couples to address difficult issues while separating in a safe and confidential environment. Couples have an opportunity to express their needs and mutually decide how those needs might be best addressed in the context of separation. Mediation also explores the effects of separation and divorce on children. The mediator will look at how to best manage the ever changing dynamics families face as they separate, with effective strategies and practical tips to support parents and children.
